BOY KILLED WHILE MARKING CARS

David Boyer Run Over in Terminal Yards While Engaged in His Duties as Clerk.

David, the 15-year-old son of J. H. Boyor, general yardmaster of the St. Louis Ferminal Railroad Association in East St. Louis, was run over by an empty coal car and instantly killed yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred in what are known as the bridge yards, about 100 yards from the Terminal yard office, where Mr. Boyer was at work. The shock of the boy's eath almost prestrated his father.

Young Boyer was employed as a clerk by the Terminal Railroad Association, His duties were to keep tab on the cars and the time they occupied trackage in the Terminal yards. As an aid to this he marked the cars with chalk. He was regarded as a careful young man and was trusted to go through the maze of tracks in the bridge yards.

He was marking cars yesterday afternoon on track No. 24. Switching was being done on track No. 25. It is believed that the number and markings on one of the cars on track No. 24 were indistinct, and to read the number better he stepped backwards on track No. 25.

He was evidently so engrossed in trying to decipher the number that he did not notice an empty coal car, which was notice an empty coal car, which was to decipher the number that he did not notice an empty coal car, which was switched down the track. It struck him and knocked him across the rails. The wheels of both trucks passed over him. A few moments later switchmen discovered the boy's mangled remains on the track. In his right hand was still clutched the piece of chalk with which he did the marking. The switchmen ascertained that the boy was dead and then summoned Benner-Britchler's ambulance. Mr. Boyer was notified, and although a strong man he had to be supported.

Coroner McCracken will hold the inquest this marking.

PELOTA PLAYERS CELEBRATE.

St. John's Eve Occasion for Much Jollity at Jal Alai.

Excellent pelota was played at the Jai Alai last night for the first time in three days, or since the players broke training long enough to celebrate the feast of St. John, June 24. The feast day is one celebrated with great fervor by the Irish and the Spaniards. The practice in both countries is to make it notable by burning huge bonfires on hilitops and dancing around the fires. In Ireland it is known as "Bone-Fire"—bonfire—night.
The Spaniards playing pelota at the Jai

al could not celebrate within the cor-rate limits by lighting bonfires outdoors

Alai could not celebrate within the corporate limits by lighting boniires outdoors or in, so they did the next most feasible thing and started small fires inside of themselves. Where an American on a similar occasion would drink whisky or beer, the Spanlards drank everything they could lay their hands on—brandy, sherry, port, champagne, beer, whisky, absinthe and benedictine. The result may be better imagined than described.

As a result of this breaking of the rigid rules of training, the players were not in the best of form up to last night. From year's end to year's end they are kept in strict training and not allowed to indulge in liquors of any sort. An exception is made on St. John's Day.

The games played yesterday afternoon were only fair, but last night saw two splendid and hard-fought games. In the first afternoon game Irun and Altamira completely smothered Egea and Michiecana, 30 to 15—the most one-sided game played this season. In the second contest Ali and Ambitarte beat Bilbalno and Pasiego. 25 to 21, in a slowish game, all the players showing up wan and weary. In the evening, however, a large crowd saw two excellent games. Irun and Marquines, whites, beat Baracaides and Olsascongoa, 30 to 29, in a game that at all periods bristied with brilliant and sustained effort. Both Irun and Baracaides did excellent work inside, while the sustained driving of the back pair elicited frequent applause. Olsascongos sound and powerful work behind won the game for his side.

The second game was also a brilliant contest, Yurrita and Abadiano, blues, beating De Elbar and Ibaceta, whites, 25 to 3, it is improving greatly in his

The second game was also a brilliant contest, Yurrita and Abadiano, blues, beating De Eibar and Ibaceta, whites, 55 to 21. Yurrita is improving greatly in his play, and Abadiano always puts up a steady and hard game. Ibaceta was not in his best form by any means.
